Yes, dreams do come true ...

For many years, AHEPANS, Greek Americans and Philhellenes watched the fabulous Tournament of Roses Parade on New Year's day and had a special dream ... a dream that one day a truly Hellenic float would be a part of the pageant that's broadcast around the globe, seen and heard by millions.

After many years of trying, that dream has come true. AHEPA will have a major float in the parade next New Year's Day. And the message of Hellenism and the traditions of Greece, both classical and modern, will be the talk of the day.

The theme for the 1999 Tournament of Roses Parade is; "Echoes of the Century." The AHEPA float will convey the theme: "Music from the Acropolis," echoing mankind's passion for freedom and harmony throughout the century. The float will feature the music of Yanni "Live at the Acropolis."

At Last, A Float in the Biggest Pageant of all!

The magnificent Parthenon, which symbolizes the glory that was -- and is -- Greece, and which continues to elevate mankind, will be seen and admired by millions in more than 110 countries. Above is an artist's sketch.

Join AHEPA'S historic effort.

The biggest opportunity ever to tell the world about Hellenism.

The Tournament of Roses Parade is one of the world's most viewed televised events. After many years of trying, AHEPA has finally been awarded a place in this spectacular event. Now it must construct a 55-ft long, 17-ft high float that depicts the grandeur and glory of Hellenism.

Please join this major effort, which has been designated as an AHEPA national project.

Be a proud sponsor of the first-ever Hellenic float. You will receive a unique commemorative gift that will acknowledge your contribution and pay tribute to your role in telling the world about our heritage. You will make it possible for the Parthenon to come alive as a three-dimensional floral float — with olive branches from Olympia — that will attract the interest of the national and international news media. Let the world know that Hellenism, as always, endures and inspires and that AHEPA stands as a ready evzone in protecting and enhancing those traditions that continue to influence mankind.
